SIXTY-FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1942 REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF FINE ARTS

To the President and the Governing Members of The Art Institute of Chicago:

WHEN war broke out on December 7, 1941, the Trustees of the Art Institute had already approved certain precautionary measures to guard human life and museum property. Immediately thereafter, under the capable direction of Charles Fabens Kelley, our Assistant Director, a Defense Council was set up to study the best means of providing additional protection to museum visitors, staff, and school, as well as to explore possible evacuation of irreplaceable material, should this prove necessary. With the broad technical aid of our Superintendent of Buildings, J. Francis McCabe, we soon had a smoothly functioning system of Air Raid Drills, with each staff member assigned to his particular post. In the same manner, storages outside the building were secured for Art Institute objects of rarity and packing cases and containers made ready. Though nothing as yet has been evacuated, many fragile exhibits (especially of glass and ceramic) have been carefully packed, ready for instant removal.

In less dramatic ways the year that has just passed finds the Art Institute responding to the war situation. Many of our valued workers are serving in the armed forces; one of the latest to enlist is Lester B. Bridaham, for five years our energetic Public Relations Counsel, who has just been commissioned a Lieutenant (s. g.) in the Naval Reserve. Mr. Bridaham organized this department and brilliantly conducted it in a way to make the Institute a host of new friends. He is on leave for the duration. The enrollment of the School of the Art Institute has, of course, suffered most visibly from the war. The Dean, however, has initiated war training courses which are appealing to students destined to serve their country. Gratifying indeed, is the record of our students and alumni already at war, many of whom are using their technical art training in this world battle of modern techniques.

To attract those employed in the Loop, helping thereby to stabilize citizen morale, a program of Midday Victory Concerts was initiated on Wednesday noons. Half-hours of music, excellently chosen and played by the Illinois Symphonic Ensemble of the Illinois Music Project, were approved by the Office of Civilian Defense. Free motion pictures (a series entitled Rediscovering America) were shown with extraordinary success to a large public on Saturday afternoons. Both activities were made possible through the Maymar Fund. Gallery tours for men and women in the armed services have been established by Miss Helen Parker, Head of the Department of Education, with volunteer assistance from Miss Etheldred Abbot, Miss Florence Dibell Bartlett, Miss Eleanor Collins, Miss Margaret Gentles, Mrs. Sidney Janis, Miss Hazel MacAdam, Miss Helen Mackenzie, Miss Wanda Odell, Miss Margaret Stuntz.

The museum acted as a link between Chicago artists who prepared posters and the local OCD, contacting designers and arranging contests and commissions. The Ryerson and Burnham Libraries, under the foresighted direction of Miss Etheldred Abbot, our Librarian, early assembled material on camouflage, war techniques, posters, defense housing, etc. Books, pamphlets and magazines on such themes have been in constant demand by the public and members of the armed services.

In July the Trustees set aside a gallery in the painting series to be called Art in War. Its purpose is to show the public how art can record and aid the war effort. Miss Helen Mackenzie, who has been in charge of this gallery, has arranged a group of lively exhibits which have proved the popularity of the new room.

Almost every staff member in addition has played his part in some community war service or been consulted by national and local war agencies.

With this additional activity the work of acquiring, exhibiting, and interpreting significant art has not lagged. I refer you to the departmental reports for a picture of a splendid and fruitful year in the museum's history. This has been the result of a distinguished, able, loyal, and hard-working staff, everyone of whom has served the institution to the best of his ability. I here wish to express my deep appreciation for an unfailing spirit of cooperation.

It has been my custom for the last several years to outline certain objectives and suggest definite needs for the Art Institute. In the ensuing year these could be realistically summed up in a single word: contributions. The museum and the School seriously need unrestricted gifts which can be used to carry on the many significant activities of our institution.

During the war the Art Institute plans to increase its public services, rather than to curtail them. It believes that these galleries contain works of art which will bring joy and satisfaction to hundreds of thousands of our citizens during one of the most crucial periods in our national history. It reaffirms the inspiration and delight to be found in art and promises its utmost to extend the knowledge of these things to our visitors. If Chicago's art museum is to play its full rôle, it needs Chicago's continuing help.

DANIEL CATTON RICH
Director of Fine Arts

REPORTS OF THE DEPARTMENTS FOR 1942

PAINTING AND SCULPTURE

A SURVEY of the additions to the department during 1942 indicates that the year has been notable both in the purchases made and in the gifts received. Twenty-eight paintings, sixteen water colors, and two pieces of sculpture make a total of forty-six items newly acquired.

Colonel Robert R. McCormick has most generously presented nine pictures from his distinguished collection purchased over the years by Colonel McCormick and chosen by his late wife. These will be designated as the Amy McCormick Memorial and include the Bathers, an important canvas by Cézanne; Two Dancers, a fine pastel by Degas; Woman with Cats by Picasso; as well as excellent examples of the work of Derain, Dufy, Utrillo, and Modigliani.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick have added to their many gifts a St. Sebastian by the Girard Master.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Worcester, who are so constantly generous in their gifts to the Institute, have presented a delightful canvas by Corot, The Wooded Road. From John Wentworth we have received a charming late eighteenth-century portrait, Lady in a Straw Hat, attributed to Vigée-Lebrun, and a pastel, The Old Mill, by François Millet. A portrait of Anne of Austria by Frans Pourbus is the gift of Ambrose Cramer. Musical Instruments by Jacques Villon, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Steegmuller, is an interesting addition to the collection of twentieth-century French paintings. Leonard Florsheim presented Black Barn, by the talented Chicago painter, Edgar Britton, and The Society for Contemporary American Art presented Pier on Sunday by James Lechay, selected from their second annual exhibition.

Undoubtedly the most outstanding purchase of the year was the Manet Still Life with Carp acquired through the Coburn Fund. This superb canvas adds a note of great distinction to our collection of nineteenth-century French canvases. Another important purchase was Venus and Cupid by the Italian Mannerist painter, Luca Cambiaso. Two fine canvases depicting events in the life of Polycrates represent the best work of Salvatore Rosa, who was not previously represented in our collection. Croquet Scene, a delightful early work of Winslow Homer, has been acquired through the Friends of American Art. Through them we have also received Just Dessert, a fine still life by William Harnett and Nighthawks, a beautifully designed canvas by Edward Hopper.

A comprehensive exhibition of the works of Henri Rousseau was the outstanding event of the mid-winter and Great Dutch Masters, a superb group of seventeenth-century paintings featuring Rembrandt, Hals, and Vermeer, was the leading exhibition of the late fall. The three regular annuals were held as usual, a special feature of the American Exhibition having been a popular memorial showing of works by Grant Wood.

During the summer Gallery 52 was set aside for a series of two-man exhibitions by artists resident in Chicago, and in October Gallery 53 was designated for Art in War, where a series of exhibitions by men in the service and of various war activities will be featured.

ORIENTAL ART

FOR several months the attention of all members of the department was occupied with problems of possible evacuation in case of hostilities, for it was necessary to make preparations as meticulously as if bombing were an early probability.

Gallery M2 has been redecorated, the cases refinished, and installed with Chinese porcelains, a large proportion of them from the Henry C. Schwab collection. Gallery M3 has been converted into a temporary storage room for the duration.

The list of exhibitions in Gallery H9 has been a notable one. Beginning the year with an exhibition of various Han objects, the second show was of Chinese costumes and accessories. It was succeeded by a splendid collection of Near Eastern embroideries lent by Burton Y. Berry, long an American consul in the Near East. Other departmental exhibitions have been Chinese prints; landscape prints by Hiroshige; Thirty-six Views of Fuji by Hokusai; and Chinese rubbings of stone sculpture of the Han dynasty.

As is not unusual ceramic masterpieces from Russell Tyson top the list of gifts. Among others of importance are two Ming five-colored beakers from Mrs. J. A. Valentine, and an eighteenth-century Japanese gold brocade from Mrs. Phillip Miller, Mrs. Frederick Wierdsma, and Mrs. A. F. Madlener, Jr. Eighty-two Japanese prints of superb quality have been added to the Clarence Buckingham Collection. An unusual gift of Chinese robes and textiles, costume accessories and a few miscellaneous Oriental textiles from Harley Farnsworth MacNair is a welcome addition.

Miss Gunsaulus and Miss Gentles have spent half their time in cataloguing the Japanese Print Collection. Miss Odell and the Curator have spent many hours studying the motifs on the Han tiles of the Buckingham Collection, with their publication in view. An article by Miss Odell in our Bulletin brought a request for further illustrations of these tiles from the Illustrated London News, and their issue of October 3 carried a two-page spread on these very interesting features of the Buckingham Collection.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson have presented two cases of antique glass from their remarkable loan collection. It is a gift of outstanding quality.

Accessions:

Chinese: Eleven Chinese rubbings from the tomb of Confucius from Mrs. Tiffany Blake; Two Ying Ch'ing gallipots, Sung Dynasty from Russell Tyson; Two K'ang Hsi beaker-shaped vases from Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine; Four pieces of pottery from the Eumorfopoulos Collection and one other from Russell Tyson; Nine robes, twelve textiles, eleven costume accessories and nine fans from Harley Farnsworth MacNair.

Japanese: Early 18th century brocade from Mrs. Phillip Miller, Mrs. Frederick Wierdsma, and Mrs. A. F. Madlener, Jr.; Two carved ivory figures from Mr. J. O. Watkins; Three textiles from Harley Farnsworth MacNair; Eighty-two prints by various artists from the Kate S. Buckingham Fund; The Awabi Divers, triptych by Utamaro from the Frederick W. Gookin Trust Fund; Fan print by Shunzan from the Harold R. Warner Trust Fund; Four textiles from Harley Farnsworth MacNair.

Persian and others: Mesopotamian jar, 1st-3rd centuries A.D. from Ambrose Cramer, Jr.; Ainu, Indian; and (two) Javanese.

PRINTS AND DRAWINGS

THE Staff of the Department of Prints and Drawings has made every effort to maintain normal service in the Study Room though the war has placed innumerable and heavy additional duties upon it. Elaborate preparations have been made to safeguard the Institute's large Collection. Records have been duplicated, material sifted, and other precautions are being taken that seem necessary under the circumstances. No cost or effort has been spared to accomplish this work in as short a time and in as efficient a way as possible.

The Staff was considerably supported in its task by Mrs. Jane Karlin, who has since moved to Boston, and Theodore Klitzke, who has joined the Army. Mrs. Bergen Evans has again generously given her services on a volunteer basis. To all of these helpers, our warmest thanks are due.

Donors have been particularly generous to the Department, and a great variety of material was added to the Collection. Mrs. James Ward Thorne, after having given us a magnificent library of nineteenth-century illustrated books, now has also donated bookcases in which to house this collection. The cases were made in the Art Institute's workshop by the Superintendent's excellent craftsmen to whom every praise is due for their accomplishment.

One of the most important gifts to the collection is a large group of prints given by Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, which have been added to the Charles Deering Collection. Among the outstanding prints in the group is an impression of one of Daumier's important lithographs, Le Ventre Législatif. The gift is too large to enumerate the many fine items in detail.

Ernest Byfield also was a generous donor and presented the Art Institute with a collection of early nineteenth-century English caricatures which, in view of our present times, are of particular interest. Robert Allerton and Mrs. Tiffany Blake have made contributions for the purchase of drawings for the collection. Mrs. Samuel Marx added a group of fine nineteenth-century English and American etchings, many of them of outstanding quality.

During the summer, the Clarence Buckingham Memorial Gallery was completely reconstructed. A new ceiling was put in and the walls redecorated. Some architectural changes were made which give the Gallery a more uniform and modern appearance. The work proceeded with the active advice and assistance of David Adler.

Visitors to the Print Study Room numbered 803, and to the Print Galleries, 70,148.

Dr. Hedi Nijhoff joined the Staff of the Department of Prints and Drawings last summer for purposes of recataloguing the Buckingham Print Collection, and Miss Blossom Willens has replaced Mrs. Valborg Richter Boyd who resigned last fall.

Hugh Edwards, Reference Assistant, made a trip to New York where he made extensive studies in the collections of various galleries and museums. Mr. Edwards has accomplished his numerous duties efficiently and faithfully, and to him and all the members of the Staff, the Curator wishes to extend his thanks.

CARL O. SCHNIEWIND
Curator of Prints and Drawings

DECORATIVE ARTS

LIMITATIONS of space necessitate a very summary report of this year's activities.

One hundred and thirty-two objects were received by gift and four acquired by purchase—making a total of 136 acquisitions of the department during the course of the year. Outstanding among the gifts is the fine Boucher tapestry from the Harry Payne Whitney Collection "La Pipée des Oiseaux" presented by the Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney Trust for the Encouragement of Art. This nobly fills a gap in the collections and is a most fitting memorial to a devoted patron and servant of the arts. Two exceptionally fine Spanish rugs and one of English eighteenth century weave were added to the Charles Deering Collection by Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick. Robert Allerton continued his generosity to the department with a gift of a fine Hepplewhite break-front bookcase, and a Spanish vargueño came to the department as a memorial to Ralph C. Clarkson through the generosity of his widow. Nineteen items of Verre de Nevers were added by Mrs. Potter Palmer to the group presented by her through the Antiquarian Society last year. Mrs. Stanley Keith added to her most welcome gifts of silver a rare English tazza of the Commonwealth period, and the department's small group of American silver received much needed help from the Antiquarian Society through a gift of purchase money from Mrs. Edwin A. Seipp.

The first purchase made with income from the Bessie Bennett Fund, bequeathed by the devoted first curator of the department, was a Queen Anne side table of unusual quality. The most important purchase of the year was certainly the bronze relief by Alessandro Vittoria which was acquired through the Edward E. Ayer Fund (Charles Hutchinson Memorial). This beautiful work of the high Renaissance is undoubtedly the most important piece of its kind in the Institute collections.

During the year the department has benefited through the kindness of many individuals who have lent valuable material. The collection of early American furniture lent by Philip Young of Boston for an indefinite period under the auspices of the Antiquarian Society is a notable example in point.

The accompanying list of exhibitions is evidence of a very active year. In conformity with departmental policy, several of the exhibitions were developed entirely from material in the permanent collections.

The department offered four gallery lectures and two object clinics to the members of the Antiquarian Society during the year as a means of integrating the activities of the Society more closely with the work of the department. These meetings were so successful as to warrant their continuation.

With the possibility of war damage in mind, and in conformity with the general plans of the Institute, the major part of the most valuable material exhibited in the Gunsaulus Galleries has been retired. By readjustments in the arrangements and using replacements where possible, with one or two exceptions the galleries have been kept open to the public as usual.

A considerable amount of time has been given to the making of a check inventory of the collections; this should be completed during the coming year.

The Textile Study Room has now received the first part of its projected storage equipment as generously provided by the Needlework and Textile Guild. The majority of the collection of sample textiles has been mounted on the new frames and the room finally put in such condition that it can begin its much needed services to the public. The department is very grateful to Miss Edna Johnson for the generous contribution of her services as volunteer assistant in the Textile Study Room since October 5.

Much needed expert cleaning and restoration of objects in the Buckingham Gothic Room and of others in the Institute collections have been given by a visiting specialist during two months of the year. It is hoped that, in the best interests of the collections, this can be made an annual occurrence.

Even under war conditions, the Thorne Miniature Rooms continue to be in demand for showing in other museums. Mrs. Thorne added to her last year's benefaction by donating the 37 units of her American series. The exhibitions of these and the European groups this year in Boston, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Rochester, and Newark have been, with one exception, record-breaking successes. The Institute has thus rendered a signal service to general art education in the country, and in spite of heavy initial expenses, both series have repaid the department for the work involved.

In recognition of the present emergency, the department has kept its expenditures for installation and redecorating at a minimum. During the year the department has provided supervisory services for several decorative projects in other sections of the Institute.

As always, the accomplishments during the year are largely owing to the energy and loyalty of the departmental staff, to the interest and support of the officers and administration of the Institute, and to its many friends outside.

The curator prepared other exhibitions as follows: one exhibition of Pan-American Art, three groups of recent accessions, three exhibitions in the Art in War Gallery, and six paintings and related material for the Masterpiece of the Month. She also wrote one article for the Bulletin of the Art Institute and gave two lectures and four gallery tours.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

WHILE the activities of the Department of Education have been carried on as usual during 1942, the noticeable decrease in attendance and receipts is due to inescapable factors. The influence of the war, with leisure time turned to war needs and money to war bonds, the difficulties of transportation for schools, have all had their effects. The discontinuance of the Sunday free gallery lectures because of lack of funds also diminished our numbers.

The High School Project made possible by a grant from the General Education Board came to a close on June 1. A two-volume report has been prepared which sets forth in detail what was done and the conclusions drawn in regard to the high school student's attitude toward art and means of changing, developing or satisfying that attitude. Laurance Longley and Miss Florence Arquin are to be commended for the excellent work they did in this project.

The Chicago Public School Art Society has become affiliated with the Art Institute and is carrying on its work as part of this department. Their office for showing reproductions to schools has been installed in Gallery 10 with Miss Frances Walshe the Secretary in charge. This affiliation will permit Chicago public school groups to enjoy free guide service hitherto unavailable.

The Florence Dibell Bartlett Lectures were continued for the seventh year for thirty evenings in Fullerton Hall with large audiences. Since this is one of our most important activities and is especially appreciated by those attending we are indeed grateful to Miss Bartlett for making it possible. Thirty lectures were given to audiences totaling 10,060.

In September free half-hour talks in the galleries on Wednesday noons were instituted. The lecturers gave their services for this as part of the civilian morale program.

An information desk for men in the armed services has been placed in the front lobby and gallery tours are given on Saturdays and Sundays, all by volunteer workers.

Addis Osborne, Ramsey Wieland, and Laurance Longley, members of the department, are all in the armed services. Mrs. Mia S. Munger, who has done splendid work as a volunteer, has been appointed a half-time assistant. The work of the department is now being carried on with one less instructor than in past years.

MEMBERSHIP AND EXTENSION
LECTURER'S DEPARTMENT

DURING 1942 the lectures, classes, and programs presented to the members totaled 340 with an attendance of 45,491.

The lectures and classes for children of members and of the public schools, provided by the James Nelson and Anna Louise Raymond Fund for Children, totaled 135 with an attendance of 55,639—including special lectures outside the Art Institute.

The Members' calendar was arranged in twelve series, meeting once a week in Fullerton Hall and in the galleries, for thirty weeks with extra classes and lectures during the summer months. Not as many guest lecturers have appeared as heretofore, but many of the Curatorial Staff of the Institute have lectured for the Members.

During the fall and early winter the Monday noon gallery lectures on the permanent collection of paintings have been given in two parts—an historical and appreciative analysis by Miss Helen Parker followed by a technical demonstration by George Buehr of the methods employed by the masters.

The Monday afternoon Home Decoration Clinic, repeated Monday evenings, has had the theme, "Problems of Interior Decoration under War Restrictions."

The Adult Sketch Classes for Novices, Monday evenings and Friday mornings, had a total attendance of 7,371.

The Friday noon Gallery Promenades of the Current Exhibitions have taxed the capacity of the galleries and have been repeated Friday evenings.

The History and Enjoyment of Art series on Friday afternoons has been in correlation with the brilliant current exhibitions that have been displayed so generously throughout the year.

The Art-through-Travel series, Friday evenings, repeated Sunday afternoons, has had a total attendance of 21,056, and is the most popular offering of the department.

Under the James Nelson and Anna Louise Raymond Fund for Children, the early Saturday afternoon class has had the largest attendance in its history. It was supplemented by two scholarship classes for one thousand pupils from the eighth grades and high schools of the city of Chicago, meeting Saturday mornings and late Monday afternoons.

The first exhibition in seven years of the work of the Raymond Fund classes was displayed in Blackstone Hall during May. It was called Young Chicago Art and was organized by Miss Mary Danforth, secretary of the department, and was catalogued, publicized, and managed by the 250 children whose works were shown.

The special lectures under the Raymond Fund outside of the Institute included three programs for the men in service at U.S.O.s and the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

The assistance of the Staff of Ryerson Library and the Keeper of the Archives in the preparation of many lectures and programs has been invaluable to the department.

The loyal and tireless service of the department staff to the Membership Lecturer and to the members is gratefully mentioned: George Buehr, Associate Lecturer; Mary Danforth, Secretary; Mrs. Margaret Myers, Sketch Class Assistant; Mrs. L. S. Lamar, Class Registrar; Jean Sterling Nelson, Substitute Lecturer on the Clinic of Good Taste; and Bernard Woods, operator and caretaker of Fullerton Hall.

SCHOOL

THE School reports a sharp decline in enrollments during the current School year, with various attendant problems of readjustment in its financial, educational and personnel structure. A total of 105 students and 4 members of the faculty and office staff have left their classes for military service, and many others have found civilian employment. Their records to date have been a source of pride to the School. As income from tuitions has declined, there have been many reductions in operating expense, with some loss in the efficiency of the School. But teaching contracts have been maintained intact as long as possible, and the standards of teaching have remained high.

In June, 1942, Peppino Mangravite completed his second successful year of teaching under an anonymous two-year mural painting grant.

The Annual Exhibition of the School, including more than 1700 examples of work from all classes, was held in September instead of June this year, a practice which will be continued in the future.

In May, 1942, classes under the direction of Miss Margaret Artingstall, Sellers Professor of Design, organized for the benefit of the Red Cross a sale of textiles, ceramics, and other objects produced by students in the School. A total of more than $400 was realized.

A School newsletter, Behind the Lions, has been produced by students and faculty members for circulation among Art Institute employees, staff members, and former students now in military service. Rufus Bastian, Tesmar Michel, Mary Peterson and members of the School office staff have generously contributed time and effort to this project.

A number of war training courses have been added to the general curriculum of the School. These include Map Making, Illustrative Drafting, Design for Occupational Therapy, and Visual Education techniques.

While the use of traveling fellowships has been greatly restricted, Richard Bowman, William Fett, Eleanor Coen, Frank Vavruska, and Fred Heidel have all reported favorably on the use of their fellowship funds in Mexico and other countries to the South.

The School records with great regret the death of one of its former instructors, Mr. F. De Forest Schook. Mr. Schook retired from active teaching in 1938, after more than thirty-four years of efficient service.

Provision of adequate housing facilities, particularly for women students, is a growing problem in the School, and one which we believe merits the attention of the Museum membership. The solution of this problem would greatly assist in the registration of new students. Other evidence of interest on the part of the membership in the work of the School and the continuation of its various functions in the Art Institute will be gratefully acknowledged.

NORMAN L. RICE

THE GOODMAN THEATRE

THIS report, limited to the school year 1941-42, does not cover the operations of a full war year. Since the period covered takes in December 7 and the seven months following, it may throw some light on the effect of the war on the Department of Drama and the Goodman Theatre.

On the whole throughout the year there has been no shifting in the registration figures which might not have been a result of various and accidental causes in any non-war year. The same holds true of the first term registration in the current year. However, it would be futile to expect a continuation of this state of affairs, since the draft is bound to eliminate almost all the male students, and the sharply increased taxation will affect the registration of women. The average registration of 1941-42 was 119.

The Members' Series opened in October with an attendance higher than in any previous year. However, the effect of Pearl Harbor could be observed at once. The normal increase in past years, which began with the January play, did not take place. Instead a small drop in attendance was noted at the Box Office. Thereafter the attendance remained stable, except for the production of Romeo and Juliet, which was seen by an audience in excess of 10,000. Besides Romeo and Juliet the list of plays for the Season included: Fresh Fields, Outward Bound, Hay Fever, Yes, My Darling Daughter, Right You Are, In A Garden, The Romantic Young Lady, The Farmer's Wife, Ladies of the Jury, and Ladies in Retirement. The total number of performances in the Members' Series was 152, and the total attendance 83,418.

While some of the Members denied themselves the pleasure of theatre going, they did not, American fashion, deny their children. The Children's Theatre prospered throughout the season, slightly increasing its audience and consequently its income. Four plays were produced: Hansel and Gretel, The Three Bears, Huckleberry Finn and The Squire's Bride. There were altogether 33 performances. The total attendance was 21,316.

The Staff and the students of the Goodman Theatre participated in the presentation over station WGN of the plays in the Great Artists series. Altogether 20 scripts were produced and played by the Goodman Theatre.

The examination of the Treasurer's Report will reveal the sound financial condition of the Goodman Theatre at the close of the School Year.

Head of the School of Drama

RYERSON AND BURNHAM LIBRARIES

FRIENDS of the Art Institute and members of the Staff have generously remembered the Library. Miss Margaret A. Augur's gift of nearly one hundred volumes added new titles to the shelves and replaced many outworn copies. Among the most interesting was the second edition of Chatto's Treatise on Wood Engraving, 1861, extra illustrated with original proofs by Thomas Bewick and others. Valuable additions came from Mrs. Max Adler, Mrs. Bruce Borland, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, John S. Miller, Alfred E. Hamill, and others. The business letter copy book kept by Louis H. Sullivan from 1903 to 1905, received from Thomas Connolly, supplies important information on Sullivan's work in Chicago. A group of Tokyo sales catalogues given by John R. Geary is a notable addition to the illustrations of Japanese painting.

By purchase the Burnham Library added Le Loggie di Rafaele nel Vaticano incise da Volpato, Roma, 1772-6 (2 vols.); El Real Monasterio de San Lorenzo del Escorial, 1876, by Vizcaino; and Recueil de Jardinage, Paris, 1783, by Pierre Panseron.

The direct influence of the war has been evident in unexpected ways while the Library's usual activities showed little change until the latter part of the year.

Books, pamphlets, and illustrative material on civilian defense and camouflage, gathered at first for the Art Institute Staff, have been in continuous use by a variety of government officials, by representatives compiling data for the Army and Navy, by private institutions, and by those planning educational courses in camouflage. The scope and variety of the collection has been commended. Ralph Root and Colonel Homer Saint-Gaudens have given valuable assistance in securing materials. The Burnham Library, through its indexes, has supplied detailed facts needed by government agencies in taking over Chicago buildings. Defense housing as illustrated and discussed in recent books and periodicals has been in frequent demand.

Men in uniform visiting the Library or writing from Army Posts have asked questions about the techniques used in sculpture or in water color painting; the background of seventeenth-century Dutch painting; illustrations of mural paintings to aid in designs for the U. S. Naval Training Station at Great Lakes and Fort Knox; where to buy reproductions of paintings by Rouault and Renoir; what are the characteristics of contemporary American art.

Many Post Libraries have urgently requested art books and magazines. Through gifts of friends, the Library has been able to supply such material to the Sixth Service Command and to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

The International YMCA has been supplied with many architectural books. This organization sends them to American and English prisoners of war who are thus enabled to carry on definite courses of study. Letters of appreciation have been received by the YMCA from these prisoners.

The books and illustrative resources of the Library are being used both for their usual educational and research value and, in addition, to supply technical information.

DEPARTMENT OF BUILDINGS

AMONG structural improvements and repairs were: a new glass roof over main stairs; repointing and repairing of outside walls supporting this roof; rebuilding parapet wall in McKinlock Court; re-roofing flat areas of roof, Hutchinson Wing; new gutter on roof of Fullerton Hall; replacing defective steel sash with glass block in passage of Mather Addition; replacing water supply lines to Triton Fountain; and alterations in Buckingham Memorial Print Gallery 17. The Clubroom and Restaurant were entirely redecorated.

The final section of skylight over the main stairs was rebuilt. Despite hazards involved not one serious accident occurred during the entire five-year period of reconstruction, while the galleries below were rarely closed to the public.

Heating Plant: Extensive repairs to both the boilers and many of the steam lines and other plant equipment at a cost of several thousand dollars was found necessary.

For the Exhibition of Great Dutch Masters, stencil wall treatment appropriate to the paintings was applied to the walls of Galleries 46, 47, and 48, and Corridor 11 was renovated by fabric-covered plywood walls.

The major case installation consisted of the building of three large oak bookcases especially designed for a collection of books given to the Print Department by Mrs. James Ward Thorne. Four large oak storage cases were made for the textile study room of the Decorative Arts Department.

In addition to these cases and the regular maintenance and installation work required for the special yearly exhibitions, the shops contributed much to the physical and structural changes mentioned. Outstanding was the relaying of a new roof deck on either side of the new skylight over main stairs and the wood form for the new gutter for Fullerton Hall roof.

Staff Losses and Changes in Personnel: The following employees joined the armed forces: Harold Allen, Joe Benkert, John Butler, James Henderson, Linus Scott, and Edward Tansey. On November 16 the Institute suffered the loss of one of its mechanics, Harold Giese, who died from an accident while on duty.

Perhaps never in the history of the department has the labor turnover equalled last year's proportions. This turnover is attributed wholly to the attractive wages offered by defense plants and private concerns.

Probably the most important activity was the solution of the problem of protection against air raids. In consequence of the Directors' survey of the building and contents in view of their protection, two separate divisions were formed to cover, respectively, the protection of human life and museum property and the possible evacuation of irreplaceable works of art and records.

These measures made certain physical changes imperative. Heavy galvanized wire protecting guards were put in position under all glass areas beneath which the public would have to pass in the event of an alarm. Refuge and first aid areas were provided in the different building units. These areas, in addition to the boiler room, service, and fire pump stations had to be supplied with an emergency lighting system. Additional fire equipment was purchased and placed in strategic places. The entire guard and mechanical personnel, augmented by clerks and curators in the various departments, was drilled and enlisted as air raid and fire wardens. Drills were conducted in which the public, employees, and students participated. Men were trained for telephone switchboard duty; telephone lines were extended to remote places in the attic so that roof watchers could notify the control center, and provision was made for blacking out exposed areas.

Special cases were made, so that the evacuation of objects, particularly paintings, could be carried out quickly and safely. Metal drums were purchased for Oriental and Decorative Arts objects, and special thought given to competent packing. Fireproof vaults within the city limits for the storage of Occidental and Oriental prints, archives, office records, and library material were selected. A fireproof bank building was rented 50 miles beyond the loop as an ideal depository for the storage of our paintings, wood sculpture, furniture, and bronzes. Provision was also made for the regulation of temperature and humidity. Every reasonable precaution has been taken to guarantee the safe arrival of these objects, including transportation under guard in rubber-tired vans. State and City officials assured a clear right-of-way through the city and state arteries should this become necessary.

With this plan as outlined we believe that in the event of evacuation all the irreplaceable objects could be moved from the building to their depositories within four days, providing we have our present staff.

In June Mr. Martin Thon, Assistant Superintendent of Buildings, celebrated fifty years of uninterrupted service. He is still one of the most active men in the department, and has complete charge of the Painting Section. Much of the fine wall treatment of galleries is due to his artistic ability and perseverance. His method of treating fabric-covered walls has gained national reputation. His judgment in this field is unexcelled. His loyal and unselfish service is greatly appreciated.

J. FRANCIS McCABE
Superintendent of Buildings

THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLICITY

THOUSANDS of new visitors came to the museum during 1942 to enjoy the free programs for citizen morale during wartime. On Wednesday noons in the spring and fall the Midday Victory Concerts, half hours of music, were given by the Illinois WPA Symphonic Ensemble. The free film program, Rediscovering America, was shown on Saturday afternoons in the spring and fall. The new audience was informed of all museum activities each week by this Department. The Symphony and Art, featured in the Print Study Room, in cooperation with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra Association, was mentioned in the orchestra program and brought new visitors to the Print Department. This notice was written by Dorothy Odenheimer.

Various radio programs throughout the year carried news of the museum to still another audience. The weekly WGN radio program, Great Artists, closed on April 1 with a special studio broadcast attended by 600 people. On December 5 the museum's program was continued over Station WMAQ every third Saturday at 9:15 A.M., under the title of Art for Our Sake. The opening of the Grant Wood Exhibition was broadcast over Station WJWC on October 28, and the opening of the Great Dutch Masters over Station WBBM in an evening program on November 17.

The Atlas Film Company of Oak Park made an unusual educational film Background for Tomorrow, of the leading museums in Chicago. Sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce, this film featured many departments of the Art Institute, and students in the School demonstrated various art processes and techniques. This film will be shown to high school audiences and to Parent-Teacher Associations throughout the country.

The news services distributed stories on the main exhibitions throughout the year. The Associated Press issued two stories on the 52nd Annual Exhibition of American Paintings and Sculpture and one on the Rousseau exhibit. The United Press reprinted various front page stories (five of which appeared during the year in the Chicago Daily News) including those on the best dressed public official, the modeling of the head of the Chicago Boys Club Junior Olympic winner, the high school students' preference for George Petty's work, the fashion show in the School, and the painting Grant Wood gave to his student as a prize in a poster contest in 1923. The rotogravure pages of the Chicago Daily News featured pages on Rousseau, on Grant Wood, and on the police dog; the Chicago Tribune ran a two-page feature on the Goodman Theatre, and in its color section appeared illustrated pages on Rousseau, the high school students' paintings in the Raymond Classes, the Grant Wood exhibition, and two on the Great Dutch Masters. The Chicago Sun emphasized candid photographs of the Membership classes, of the summer school, the fashion show, and visitors to the Great Dutch Masters exhibition. A series of twelve daily articles on the Great Dutch Masters was written by Dorothy Odenheimer, art editor of the Chicago Sun.

Unfortunately this year space does not permit individual acknowledgment to the many friends who have assisted this department so generously. Special thanks are due, however, to Elsie Catherine Sachs, secretary in this department for the past three years. The Public Relations Counsel is on leave for the duration as Lieutenant (s. g.), United States Naval Reserve.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF FINANCE AND OPERATION

*To the President and Governing Members of
The Art Institute of Chicago:*

THE year 1942, despite unsettled economic conditions, closed with the finances of the Art Institute on a sound basis. There was an increase of $67,141.28 in the Endowment Funds, of which $55,640.74 is restricted, and $11,500.54 is unrestricted. The most important new fund of the year was the Mrs. James Ward Thorne Fund of $25,000 which represents the proceeds of the sale of the first series of miniature rooms by Mrs. Thorne which were shown at the Century of Progress Exposition.

The new Endowment Funds are listed below:

The Mrs. James Ward Thorne Fund . . . . .	$25,000.00
Broadus James Clarke Memorial Fund . . . . .	2,000.00
Annie S. Coburn Fund . . . . .	1,879.14
Anonymous Fund . . . . .	1,500.00
Anonymous Fund . . . . .	1,500.00

Additions to Endowment Funds were as follows:

Life Membership Fund . . . . .	$18,320.00
Insurance Fund . . . . .	7,500.00
Carrie Ryerson Fund . . . . .	6,639.71
Martin A. Ryerson Fund . . . . .	1,860.83
Employees Loan and Benefit Fund . . . . .	730.35
Dearborn Seminary Scholarship Fund . . . . .	173.35
Stella Jerome Prager Fund . . . . .	37.90

Due to war conditions the operating expenses of the Museum naturally were heavier than usual, but were still within the budget allowances authorized by the Trustees in their meeting of December 16, 1941. In addition to the increased expense of operation, the Museum Budget had to bear the expense of renewing the remaining portion of the old roof over the grand staircase, which, with other roofs repaired during the year over the Terrace Addition and Fullerton Hall, amounted to $33,050.62. The total sums expended for new roofs during the last few years amounted to $244,096.31, all of which is being paid for out of the operating income of the Museum.

Extraordinary Repairs during the year amounted to $13,777.91. These included the renovation and decoration of the Clubroom, the Cafeteria, and the Mather Tearoom, all of which were in bad condition; extensive repairs to boilers and to the steam return lines; replacing steel and glass black light windows in the south wall of Mather Addition, and decorating the Ryerson and Burnham Libraries and the Lantern Slide Room. The gift of $500 from Thomas E. Donnelley in December, 1941, was applied to the decoration of the Library.

Receipts of the Museum were better than anticipated, due in part to the payments from the Chicago Park District. The full payment for necessary repairs was made possible by the receipt of considerably more than was anticipated from this source. The receipts were $138,501.22, which is in excess of any amount received in recent years.

Adverse conditions are always quickly registered in the Membership Department. While there has been a decrease of 1,481 in Annual Members, due to cancellations, the public interest has been shown by the addition of 1,072 new Annual Members during the year. The total membership is now 13,559. Another encouraging feature was the receipt of $12,052.50 from Sustaining Members. Total receipts for the year were $54,349.50. Net additions of $18,315.00 to the Life Membership Fund brought the fund to $1,533,886.78.

The Restaurant, under new management during the latter part of the year, has greatly expanded its operations and is now serving many more patrons than at any time in recent years. In spite of higher food and labor costs, it is currently meeting all operating expenses.

Reproduction sales for the year were $9,253.10 and the catalogue sales $3,900.26.

The Exhibition of American Rooms in Miniature by Mrs. James Ward Thorne which opened in December, 1940, and closed February 2, 1942, had a total attendance of 122,190 persons and was a great success. Mrs. Thorne made two gifts in connection with the exhibition, one of $500 for lectures and one of $450 for special purposes. She also contributed $1000 toward three specially designed oak cases for the Mrs. James Ward Thorne Collection of Illustrated Books, now installed in the Print Study Room.

The Dutch Exhibition which ran from November 1 to December 30 attracted wide attention and it is estimated that the receipts will about cover the cost of the exhibition, although certain charges for insurance, transportation, and packing in New York are not yet in. The profit on catalogue sales, which are to be continued into January, 1943, will be about $3,025 and will be turned over to the Queen Wilhelmina Fund and the American Women's Voluntary Services. The total attendance was 35,620.

In the meeting of the Trustees of January 28, it was voted to make an appropriation to cover expenses in connection with the Defense Project. Repositories within fifty miles of the city were procured and fitted with necessary equipment for properly storing objects in case conditions should warrant evacuation. The Art Institute building has been safeguarded for the public and employees, and refuge areas and fire warning stations have been established for the protection of human lives and the contents of the building. Mr. Worcester very generously contributed $1,000 toward this defense program.

The great fluctuations in enrollment in institutions of various types is reflected by a decrease in tuition receipts of the School under those of last year. This decrease, however, is less than the decreases reported by other schools. The School is endeavoring to reduce its operating costs to compensate somewhat for the reduction in tuition income. It is the intention of the School to maintain on a balanced budget its basic character for the benefit of the 1430 students who are at present enrolled in its classes. Three large class rooms, in addition to the one already occupied, have been rented to the Architectural Department of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

The financial results for the first six months of the fiscal year of Goodman Theatre are very satisfactory. While there has been a drop in registrations, there has been an increase in receipts from other departments of the Theatre. Although the income was smaller than that of last year, the pruned expenses resulted in a favorable balance only slightly less than that of last year at this time.

Friends of the Art Institute were most generous during the year in making the following cash gifts:

Robert Allerton, maintenance Allerton Galleries . . . . .	$11,660.40
